

ABSTRACT

The invention discloses an isolated, biologically pure culture of a microorganism, Bacillus licheniformis, strain SB3086 for use as an environmentally desirable biofungicide. The invention also discloses a method for enhancing biofungicidal activity of a microbial agent. The invention further discloses a nutrient composition comprising a microbial agent and a method for controlling plant fungal diseases and infestation of Aspergillus niger utilizing said strain.